DECLASSIFIED

The Austrian Ambassador and Madame Schwarzenberg
The Spanish Ambassador and Marquesa de Santa Cruz
Duchess of Devonshire
Lord Norwich
Madame Capetanides (wife of Greek Ambassador to Spain)
Mr. Pryce-Jones
Princess Metternich
Mr. Mack-Smith
Mr. Frank and Lady Katherine Giles
Senator and Mrs. John Cooper
Mr. and Mrs. John Wyndham (P.M.'s Office)
Mrs. Ian Fleming
Lady Diana Cooper
Mr. Wells

Without making invidious comparisons, I would rank Diana Cooper, Princess Metternich, and Pamela Wyndham high in the ranks of feminine beauties anywhere.

November 20, 1962 - Tuesday

Representative William T. Cahill of New Jersey, Milton W. Glenn, of New Jersey, and James A. Byrne, of Pennsylvania, called on me this morning. We did not particularly contribute to our respective stocks of knowledge, but had a pleasant conversation.

Governor Daniel, accompanied by his wife, [redacted] daughters and son, came to the office for a photographic exercise. Later they lunched with us at the residence, accompanied by the Frazier Meades. Before doing so, they were solemnly briefed, as had been done at other posts, on a variety of subjects. The Governor, a genial Texan, had his 9-year old daughter take notes on the briefing. The memorandum given to me in preparation for his visit well illustrates the range of his interests and some of the oddities of life in an Embassy.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE A/CDC/MR
REW DATE 6-17-81
DECLASSIFIED

I went down this afternoon to see Lord Home, charged with a variety of instructions from the Department. We disposed of these questions in a short time. Thereafter, he took out a map of the Sino-Indian frontier and talked at considerable length of the problems confronting our countries there.
